

HAPPY NEW YEAR

Basil Rathbone and the Cinécraft crew on a studio set

A huge thanks for helping us preserve the memories of Cinécraft Productions

Tim Conway and Ernie Anderson in 1960 Christmas commercials for Ohio Bell Telephone

In 2021, the Cleveland Public Library, was successful in posting an entry on Cinécraft Productions on Wikipedia. Case Western Reserve University posted 25 Cinécraft related entries on The Encyclopedia of Cleveland History, bios on 8 Cinécraft connected people were posted on the Internet Movie Database, the National Film Preservation Board awarded a grant to preserve the 1924 silent film, The Heart of Cleveland from the Cinécraft film archives, Neil McCormick started a new web site Cinécraft-Historic.com, Roosevelt Leftwich, a reporter of Fox 8 TV in Cleveland, ran a series of stories on Cinécraft, the Columbus Metropolitan Library was deep into a project to preserve over a thousand Ohio Story radio scripts, and Kevin Martin, Ben Spolin and Osa Coughlin of Hagley Library marched, wrote about and posted dozens of new Cinécraft films, scripts and oral histories on the Hagley.org research site. Cheers & Happy New Year... Jim, John, and Ray Cully

Shutterfly

exclusively for shutterfly.com